

Skowhegan Alumni Exhibition 1999-2008

92Y Tribeca is pleased to present a gallery exhibition of alumni chosen from the Skowhegan School of Painting and Sculpture's 1999-2008 classes. The pieces focus largely on concepts of structure and altered space and include works by Katarina Burin, Asuka Goto, Heather Hart, Courtney Jordan, Noah Klersfeld, Bennett Morris, Matthew Northridge, Carol Pereira, Julia Randall, Adam Parker Smith and Mary Temple. It is curated by Grace Evans, director and partner at Zach Feuer in Chelsea; Christina Ray, founder and director of Glowlab in Soho; and Marisa Sage, founder of Like the Spice Gallery in Williamsburg and president of the Williamsburg Gallery Association. Please join us on Jan 21 for an opening night reception from 6-9pm.
